

MUSEUM LONDON

BOARD POLICY

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY

Preamble

The Executive Director and the Board of Directors of Museum London recognize that management of health and safety is paramount to the wellness of our employees, volunteers, visitors, and contractors and consultants when they are working on Museum premises. The Executive Director and the Board of Directors are committed to creating and maintaining a safe workplace, complying with the Ontario Occupational Health and Safety Act and accompanying regulations, all applicable occupational health and safety legislation, and all other health and safety requirements or standards to which the Museum subscribes.

Policy

In recognition of Museum London's commitment to continuous improvement of our health and safety program, the Board of Directors will establish, implement and maintain health and safety policies and the Executive Director will:

- Ensure that health and safety programs and procedures are in place in conjunction with the Joint Health and Safety Committee.
- Monitor the organization's continuous improvement in the performance of the health and safety program with the goal of the prevention of accidents, personal injuries/illnesses, property damage and loss.
- Communicate to employees their responsibilities as required by the Ontario Occupational Health and Safety Act and accompanying regulations and Museum London's health and safety policies, programs and procedures which will include their cooperation and participation in conducting their activities in a healthy, safe and responsible manner in order to reduce the risk of injury and illness.
- Ensure that competent persons fulfill the role of supervisors and are accountable for the health and safety of workers under their supervision, ensuring that machinery, equipment, materials are safe, and workers follow established safe work practices and procedures.
- Ensure that workers receive adequate training in their specific work tasks to protect their health and safety.
- Ensure that volunteers receive adequate training as appropriate, and will be given the same consideration as employees, when it comes to being provided with a safe and healthy work environment.
- Ensure that every employee, sub-contractor, and consultant and employee of a sub-contractor and consultant protect his or her own health and safety by following the applicable legislative requirements and Museum London's health and safety policies, programs and procedures.

All parties are expected to consider health and safety in every activity. Participation in and commitment to health and safety must be essential for everyone at Museum London, in recognition that improving health and safety procedures will provide a healthier work environment and community.

The Executive Director will post a copy of the above information in the workplace at Museum London and communicate this policy with employees.
